ATH Will Present Minstrel Music

The Antioch High School Music Association held its second meeting of the year recently at the high school cafeteria. Items brought to the attention of the members were the 1962 summer music camp and the advertisements being sold for the 1962 "Show Boat," which is to be held January 19 and 20.

Mr. Rush asked the members to assist him in finding talent for the coming musical, "Show Boat." Anyone who is interested in performing in the production should contact Mr. Rush either at the high school or at his home.

The show is open to anyone in the Antioch-Lake Villa area. The money derived from the show goes to support the high school's fine arts department summer camp. The camp was an outstanding success last year and it is hoped that anyone who has talent will join the "Show Boat" cast this year and help provide another good show and a summer camp for the fine arts department.

Local Woman Given Cash

Mrs. Margaret Velup was recently awarded a cash prize of $15 under the Electronics Supply Office Beneficial Suggestion Program.

Captain D. H. Lyness of the United States Navy officiated at the ceremony at which the awards were given.

In a general statement, Capt. Lyness noted that the presentations to the Federal civilian employees were made for savings of labor, improvements in work methods and maintenance, and the adoption of new ideas, all of which contribute to ESO's continuing effort towards monetary savings and other improvements in its supply operations.

No Personal Tax Gives Residents Seasonal Monies

Illinois residents may have extra money again this Christmas season, since they have no personal income tax to pay, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois noted today. As of September of last year, according to a study released by Tax Foundation, Inc., 1,209 different taxing units imposed a tax on personal income. None of these taxing districts is in Illinois.

However, 33 states now levy a personal income tax. The Federal government and 1,175 municipalities, primarily in Ohio and Pennsylvania, also levy such a tax. These two states do not have personal income tax.

The number of smaller governmental units levying on personal income, notes the Federation, grew from 787 in 1958 to 1,175 in 1960. Of the 388, two-year increase in localities levying on income, 369 were in Pennsylvania.

In many cases, the large number of taxing units gang up on the taxpayer, and he is subject to double, triple, yes, even quadruple taxation on income, gasoline, or cigarettes. For example, every five gallons of gasoline purchased by a motorist in areas of Alabama is accompanied by payment of four gasoline taxes: Federal, state, municipal, and county.

Besides paying the 4c Federal and 7c state levy, a driver in 220 of Alabama's 318 municipalities must pay a 1c local impost—and in 12 of the state's 67 counties, he must also pay a 1c county gasoline tax, adding up to 13c in tax for every gallon purchased.

Or take the case of Nevada. Each of that state's 17 counties levies a 1c per gallon gasoline tax in addition to the usual Federal (4c) and state (5c) imposts.

In concluding, the Taxpayers' Federation said that in September, 1960, 1,827 state and local governments collected a retail sales tax; 259 taxing units split the proceeds of the cigarette tax; and 479 divided the gasoline tax.

Grass Lake Family Injured As Home Goes Up in Smoke

Bernard Parker, his wife and three children suffered injuries during a flash fire in their home at Grass Lake, Thursday, Dec. 14.

Parker, 25, and his son, Frank, 5, were burned about the hands. Parker's wife and two daughters, Susan, 3, and Elizabeth, 2, suffered from smoke inhalation.

Parker and his son were hospitalized due to their burns. Mrs. Parker and her two daughters were kept under observation at Victory Memorial Hospital and were released shortly thereafter. However, Mrs. Parker kept a midnight vigil over her husband and son. Their condition was not described as critical.

Attempting to supplement heat in his home, Parker started a fire in the fireplace in which an explosion of undetermined origin reportedly caused the fire's breakout.

The Parkers attempted to escape with their children from the rear exit of their rented home but the wooden door to the rear was boarded and prevented them from leaving the house.

The owner of the building, Harold Grant, is currently teaching GI children in Germany. The entire inside of the building was gutted and all of the Parkers' personal belongings lost.

Mrs. Marshall Fisher, a neighbor of the Parkers, called the Antioch Fire Department and Rescue Squad upon seeing the house burst into flames.

By the time she went to the Parker home, the family had already escaped through the front door and were preparing to leave in their car.

Upon their arrival the Antioch firemen stated that the house could not be saved. The Rescue Squad then took the Parkers to Victory Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Native Teaches While Still Student in Wis.

Arthur Hanke, 441 Orchard St., Antioch, is presently doing his off-campus teaching at Beaver Dam, Wis., in the public high school. He is doing this as part of the requirement for future teachers of America. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hanke, Sr.

Arthur is a senior this year at Stout. He is enrolled in the school of industrial art at Stout State College, Menomonie, Wis.

Fires Rage in Antioch Area

Tenant House Burns

A tenant house at the Homer White farm on Savage road, south of Antioch, caught fire Dec. 13.

The Antioch Fire Department answered the call. The blaze was extinguished before excessive damage was incurred.

Car Ablaze

On Thursday, Dec. 14, the Fire Department was also called to extinguish a fire that had started in the car of David Jones on Rte. 83.

The damage was confined to the motor and dash of the car, which was parked at the Jones home when the fire started.

Furnace Fire

Chief Edgar Simonsen reported that a fire started in an overheated furnace in the home of Bob Weder on Cedar Wood Lane in Oakwood Knolls.

The blaze, which occurred Dec. 19 at 9 p.m., caused the motor and blower in the furnace to be burned out. Aside from that, no injuries were received, it was reported.

Flaming Closet

The home of Thomas Chase on Rte. 173, just west of Lake Avenue on Channel Lake, suffered a fire Dec. 19, at 12:05 p.m.

Mrs. Chase who was home alone discovered that the clothes closet in the bedroom was on fire and the bedroom full of smoke.

She immediately called the Antioch Fire department and 16 men and 3 trucks answered within minutes to extinguish the flames. The fire was confined to the bedroom, Chief Simonsen reported.

The Chases suffered the loss of their wardrobe when the closet burned. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Chief Simonsen concerned with the rash of fires in the area, stated that at this time of year with the weather changing rapidly, the heating systems in homes and cars are apt to act up a bit if not properly checked. "It takes a few fires to wake people up to the fact that they can have one, too," Simonsen added.

Santa Draws Over 3000 Youngsters to Antioch

John L. Horan, Executive Secretary of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, announced today that over eight hundred pictures of children visiting Santa Claus the past week were taken by Cecil Smith, staff photographer for the Antioch State Bank. The children visited Santa at his headquarters on the corner of Lake and Main streets.

Horan also stated that the Chamber also played Santa Claus to Santa himself by awarding him a check for his services rendered while making his trip to Antioch.

Stanley Toton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, stated that Santa's visit was "very successful. Those bringing their children to see Santa commented very favorably on the decorations of his headquarters."

The unused DX station was converted into the jolly gent's resting place by Preston J. Reckers, Jr. Reckers painted and decorated the entire building over a period of several days.

Chamber President Toton went on to state that an estimated 3000 children went to see Santa in order to tell him what they desired for Christmas. Hundreds of them queued up in long and twisting lines with their mothers and fathers patiently waiting for their turn to see the happy North Pole visitor.

Many, who had waited for over an hour's time, upon entering Santa's chamber for their private interview, burst into tears, became bug-eyed with fright and bent hasty retreats to the understanding arms of their parents. However, the majority sat upon his lap and whispered their priceless wishes into his ever-attentive ear.

An estimated 3000 candy canes were distributed to the youngsters along with bubble gum.

Residents from Lake Villa, Salem, Richmond, Wilmet, Trevor, Lindenhurst, Channel Lake and many other communities brought their children in to see Santa which should serve as a sort of tribute to the planners and especially the workers who helped to make this fine and generous project a success.

Free Parking In the Village

It was recently reported by John L. Horan, Civil Defense Director in Antioch, that the village officials, the Chamber of Commerce and independent merchants working in joint cooperation will allow free parking on all of Antioch's streets until Christmas.

The meters on all streets will be bagged. Horan stated that this act was "in the true spirit of Christmas and the season's greetings from the Village of Antioch to its people."

Thief Enters Co., Takes Coin Boxes

Antioch Police Chief Walter Scott reported that the H & T (Active Specialties) located on Broadway St., was burglarized at night between the 10th and 11th of December.

Scott stated that the back door had been broken through by jimmying the lock.

The burglary was discovered by an employee of the company on Sunday morning and she notified the village police immediately.

Nothing apparently had been stolen, reported Scott, except that two service machines, one containing hot soup and the other, cigarettes, had been robbed of an estimated $20, which was taken from the coin boxes.

Chief Scott went on to state that he thought the burglar to be alone. The ground was covered with fresh snow at that time and revealed only one set of footprints.

Seniors Sponsor Cane Dance

The Antioch High School will host a special Christmas Formal at the ATHS Boys' Gym on Friday, Dec. 22, between 8:30 and 11:30 p.m.

The dance, which is sponsored by the Senior Class, is titled "Candy Cane Lane."

All classes will be attending the dance, it was reported.

The music will be provided by the "Top Hatters" Orchestra. The coronation of the dance's queen will take place at 11 p.m.

School officials stated that the public is invited to attend the dance.

Burglar Hits Rte. 173 Firm

An attempted burglary of Hunter's Garage located on Rte. 173 and east of the Soo Line was reported at 3 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 19.

The Antioch Police Squad noticed that a window on the rear door of the garage was broken and summoned the Sheriff's squad.

Upon examination of the premises, Hunter stated that nothing was missing from the establishment.

Apparently, the would-be burglar was frightened away by a watch dog kept in the garage, the Sheriff's Office reported.

Pizza Place Robbed

Deputy Charles Larson also reported that the B & M Pizza Restaurant, also on Rte. 173, had been broken into also on Tuesday, Dec. 19.

The thief entered, it was reported, by breaking the glass of the front window and burglarized the coin boxes of two Pepsi machines inside. The amount of money taken is yet to be determined.

Larson ventured to say that he thought both the attempted burglary and the successful one were the efforts of a teenager.

Skidding Car Hits Another

Annie V. Strametz, 19, of Lehighman Blvd., and one-year-old passenger, Daniel E. Strametz, were struck by a car driven by Mr. Francis Heck, 67, on Highway 59, Thursday, Dec. 14. Time of the accident was reported by the State Police to be at 4:40 p.m.

No injuries were reported.

New Church Has Services

All services of the Antioch Evangelical Free Church will be held in its new church-parsonage on Tiffany Road at Highway Drive beginning Christmas Sunday, Dec. 24, according to the pastor, Carroll D. Lindman.

The redwood frame building is the first unit to be built on the 2½ acre site on Tiffany Road two blocks north of Lorenz's Smart Country Restaurant. The new 28 ft. by 64 ft. building contains an auditorium seating 80, a four room apartment for the pastor and family, and a full basement for Sunday School and a church office. After the future sanctuary and Christian Education buildings are constructed, the present unit will be converted into a three bedroom parsonage.

Pastor Lindman also announced that there will be no evening service this Sunday. Instead a special Yule Day service will be held Christmas morning at 7 a.m. Visitors are cordially welcome to all services of the church.

Sheriff Campaign Involves Larson

The Committee for "Charles Larson for Sheriff" Kick-off dinner to be held January 20, 1962 at Lorenz's Smart Country House met to make final arrangements for what is expected to be the largest affair ever held in the area.

Friends of Charles Larson have formed the committee to kick-off his campaign for Sheriff of Lake County.

Charles Larson who resides at 266 North Ave., Antioch, is well known throughout the area for his many years as a patrol man, Chief Investigator and now Chief Deputy of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, and for his excellent work with the lie detector.

Chief Scott Cautions All Drivers to Drive Safely

Walter I. Scott, Antioch Chief of Police, reported recently that the State's Traffic Condition Yellow pre-holiday alert goes into effect today.

He said that it is important to have the car safety-checked, to study all roads and traffic laws along the routes to be driven, and to be completely refreshed when the trip begins.

begins at 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 22, motorists can use these five days to prepare for long trips or any use of the highways.

Scott said that Antioch is co-operating with the State program in reminding all drivers of the hazardous driving during the holiday period. Prior to this period, which

The Undying Time

It is Christmas. It is a time for merriment, kindness and worship. The greatest event of the year is upon us.

The homes of Antioch and its surrounding communities are decorated with brilliant fare and slung over with their bright greeting lights, like watchfires in the chilling December nights.

Children skip and run a bit faster with knowledgeable gleam in their twinkling eyes. They will all be expecting a visitor shortly and he is called many things — Pere Noel, St. Nick, Santa.

Adults get into the swing of things. They listen to the old, old Christmas carols of their own youth and perhaps memories of their own childhood Christmases come fleeting back. There is a crackle of kindness, a roar of joy in their voices as they greet their friends upon the street. Christmas, it seems, is the only time when everyone talks to strangers, when there are no strangers.

In a time when tradition seems to crumble before the great progressive machines of automation, nuclear threats, wars, chaos, and the toppling of empires, this sacred time has not yet disappeared.

However in some disenchanted areas of this best of all possible worlds, there remains the hovering shadow of fear, despair, and violence.

Five thousand miles away, almost on the other side of the globe, there are millions of children who will not celebrate Christmas at all. Most of them have never even heard of Christmas. The parents of these children do not celebrate either for they are forbidden to remember what the significance of Christmas is—peace on earth, good will towards men.

We feel that this is a tyranny imposed upon the human soul of mankind by hateful men, their personal greed for power and domination stretching like an evil plague across their forlorn nations.

But here in the Western Hemisphere, a person can attend the church of his choice, put up the kind of tree he likes, give the presents he wishes to, each in his own way and in his own time celebrate the meaning of Christmas.

Let us, for these great rights, thank God.

WHAT DO YOU WANT IN A CONGRESSMAN?

The editorial in the Waukegan News-Sun of Friday, December 15, bearing the title "Voters Face Unfamiliar Task" was quite thought provoking to me and I hope to many of your readers.

In addition to being a sound Republican with a conservative voting record and approach to all problems, Mrs. Church was also an outstanding liaison between her people and Washington. To put it in even simpler language, she was terrific at running errands and giving her constituency the service they deserve.

In picking a new Congressman to serve in our brand new District of Lake, McHenry and Boone counties, the voters must ask themselves, what do we want in a Congressman? I would suggest to them that when asking this question that they think of the whole picture, and all the possible duties of whoever they select to represent them in Congress. His attitude on foreign aid, on give-away programs, on Federal Aid to Education, on the farm program, on free enterprise, on Civil Rights—and on the United Nations program.

Speaking as a citizen and not as a State Representative, I say to you that I want a man of sound Republican principles. One that would rather go down in defeat standing for the principles of the Republican Party than win by being a so-called liberal Republican or as a "me-tooism" Republican. I want a man with courage of his own convictions, a stand-up fighter and an independent thinker. I want a man from this great industrial area that makes up the new 12th District to join with Senator Barry Goldwater to save the Republican Party—to fight off the Rockefeller and the other liberals that make of us a poor excuse as Republicans.

Then in addition I want a man that is willing to give the voters some service. One that will answer their letters promptly and courteously as Mrs. Church did, with real answers and not with yes and no political answers. I want a man that will be of real service to the District as an "errand boy" if you please, so that we will really be in touch with Washington like you have been in my time with Springfield.

What is your opinion?

Along The Way

'Twas several nites before Christmas, and to my surprise, I looked up and saw Santa, with his big blue eyes! He said he had some gifts in his sleigh.

To give to you people Along the Way.

I peeked in his bag and there found everything, That on Christmas Eve old Santa will bring!

A record player for coach Larry Leon.

The Visible Woman for Howard Shepard.

A foot ball for George Hawkins. A book for Tommy Griffin. A bug collection for Tony Stanich.

A wallflower for Art Meyer. A suit for Ed Jacobs. A building for Al Dittman. Giant Checkers for Mayor Cunningham.

A bank for Dr. Vermeren. A shiny new star for Chuck Larson.

A paper doll for Jay Nash. A big shot glass for Ed Vos. A movie contract for Les Camp. A money belt for Harold Young's extra dough.

A stuffed lion for Helen Sterbenz. It's all in fun my friends out there,

As you've tried to guess the who and where. To kid you all I've tried my best, And keep my name from being guessed.

Now may I take the time to say, Please have a wonderful Christmas Day.

Health, happiness and fun on every day, Is my gift to all of you Along the Way.

Your Governor Reports
by OTTO KERNER

This is Christmastime, the season of peace and good will. No other festival of the year has such meaning.

The streets of our cities are gaily lighted. The store windows are brightly displayed with colorful merchandise. Our homes sparkle inside and out with gay decorations. But the meaning of Christmas has much greater depth than this.

It is a rare privilege that we in America may pause and with humility and eternal gratitude give thanks, for this day of great joy.

We do it in many ways—religiously, socially and with generosity. It is a wholesome custom.

As this most sacred day of Christmas draws near, may we in Illinois be thankful for all that the year has brought us and be grateful for our many blessings.

As families gather in homes across the width and depth of this great state which is Illinois, I extend my sincere best wishes for the merriest of Christmases. May it bring to each and everyone the joy and gladness only we in our land of freedom and opportunity can attain.

Courthouse Notebook—

BY LOU DURKIN

Every time we see one of those pink or blue or red Christmas trees which have become the rage in recent years we are reminded of the lately loaded Broadway producer who was showing a friend around his new Connecticut estate.

With considerable pride he pointed out trees that he had moved, streams and ponds he had re-located and a hill he had constructed in a new location by leveling another.

The proud owner casually mentioned the cost of the improvements to which his friend murmured, "Just think what God could have done if he had had money."

The weird colored trees make us wonder what Mother Nature could have done with a spray can and some vegetable coloring.

And speaking of Christmas, you have to give John Noel, effervescent mayor of Mundelein, credit for being a shrewd politician.

Noel made his candidacy for state representative known just before the Christmas season opened so he could take advantage of all the free publicity he will receive from people singing the First Noel and exchanging joyous Noel greetings.

There will be a pair of familiar political names on the Republican primary ballot next spring if present campaign plans are carried out.

Ralph J. Dady, whose father, the late Judge Dady was a leading political figure in Lake County for many years, is throwing his hat into the race for Probate Judge while Nick Keller, Jr., is circulating petitions to get on the ballot as a candidate for U. S. Representative from the 12th Congressional District.

The senior Keller served Lake, McHenry and Boone counties as state representative for many years. Both Dady and Keller have been active in Young Republican and general Republican organizations for several years.

Something new has been added to the tradition of ballot space sitting in the courthouse corridor outside the office of County Clerk Garfield R. Leaf.

Joining the space savers planted by Chief Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Larson are two more sitters but they are reluctant to reveal the identity of the candidates for whom they are waiting in line to be first on the ballot.

The "quintessence of asininity" is the quaint phrase Deerfield Supervisor Emmett Moroney used to describe the new curfew law passed by the County Board Monday.

Moroney is chairman of the judiciary committee which refused to present a curfew ordinance and the old curmudgeon spoke eloquently against passage of the ordinance Monday.

Sam Smith, who also represents Deerfield township, spoke against the law which chases kids off the street under threat of punishment, but mesmerized by the golden tones of Cuba Supervisor Joseph P. Welch the board voted to give the county officials another law to enforce.

Moroney assured the board that his committee would go along with the curfew and would submit a monthly report on its success.

There was no mention of additional police to help keep the kids off the street.

County Highway Superintendent M. E. Amstutz revealed recently that he has received assurances from Springfield that work will start in 1962 on the construction of the long-discussed industrial highway along the shores of Lake Michigan.

Amstutz predicted that an overpass across the tracks below Waukegan's bluff at Grand Ave., will be the first step in the project.

The new highway would extend from 22nd St. in North Chicago to Zion and possibly the state line.

Charley Larson is expected to formally announce his candidacy for sheriff on the Republican ticket at a dinner in his honor at Lorenz's Smart Country House, Antioch, on Jan. 17.

The American Experience

By Ray Fuechner

The contagious spirit of good will which pervades the air during the Christmas season is like some magical elixir. It changes the most inveterate pessimist into the most unabashed optimist; it causes misers to open their purses; it turns the hearts of even the most hardened souls to the charity of love.

One American man—critic, essayist, and reader—the late Alexander Woolcott was a man hated and feared by thousands of writers, playwrights, and actors. He was known as a man of bitter invective and merciless spleen throughout the world of letters. A rotund, owl-faced man, he was a complete sentimentalist and very kindly man at heart.

At one time in the early 1930's, Harold Ross, then editor of the New Yorker Magazine, asked Woolcott to cover a children's Christmas play for his magazine. Ross, a long time enemy of Woolcott's, had arranged to send Woolcott not to a play but to an orphanage where Ross had further telephoned in advance telling the children's guardians that a man was coming to play Santa Claus for their children.

Woolcott, dressed in top hat and opera cape and sneering bitterly stepped forth from the taxi in front of a bleak-faced tenement building which had been converted into a children's home. He re-checked the address he had written down and, finding it correct, mounted the steps and rang the bell.

In a matter of minutes, an elderly couple, the directors of the orphanage, had spirited Woolcott into a side room where they showered him with gratitude for being so kind. While the perplexed Woolcott was trying to determine why he was being thanked in advance, they brought forth a Santa Claus suit, gave it to him and left him in the room to change. Immediately, Woolcott grasped the situation which Ross had maneuvered him into. He was furious. He swore he'd kill Ross if he got the chance. He couldn't walk out of the place either. He had to go through with the charade. There was no way he could talk his way out of it. So reluctantly, he donned the clothes and began the masquerade.

For almost four hours, Alexander Woolcott played Santa Claus for some eighty homeless children. One by one he sat sweating in the heavy clothes and thick make-up talking to the children. Even a man who sincerely loved children could hardly be expected to endure so many for so long. Nevertheless, Woolcott played his role faithfully, laughing and asking each child what he or she wanted for Christmas, saying he'd see what he could do, and so on.

Finally, near the end of his long evening, Woolcott watched a small boy of six or seven walk shyly into the room. Woolcott lifted the lad onto his lap and asked him what his name was.

"Tommy," said the boy. "A good name," said Woolcott. "And what do you want Santa to bring you for Christmas?"

The small boy looked up wistfully into Woolcott's eyes and proceeded to ask for many, many things. He asked Santa to bring toys for this boy and that girl, gifts for the directors, and scarcely mentioned himself. Just before he left, the little boy reached into the pocket of his dungarees and pulled out a napkin carefully wrapped about something. Already, touched by Tommy's concern for others, Woolcott wept softly as Tommy unwrapped six small cubes of sugar for Santa's reindeer, saying that he had saved them for the reindeer instead of eating them himself.

Woolcott took the cubes of sugar, promised to give them to his reindeer and eventually left the orphanage. He said nothing to Ross of what had happened and never mentioned it to any of his friends.

It was some days later that Ross learned the outcome of his attempted "joke." Woolcott had called Macy's and had sent hundreds of toys to the children at the orphanage as an anonymous benefactor. Needless to say, Ross—after talking with the overjoyed directors who could never have afforded anything of the sort for the children—felt

Inside Antioch High

By Mike Brooks

On Friday, December 15, the girls in the cooking group of Home Economics at ATHS served a complete Christmas buffet to the teachers. Several teachers have commented about the excellent food.

Approximately one-half of the student body attended the volunteer pep assembly held last Friday afternoon. Some of the students remarked that it could have been better and some said it was a good program and should be continued on this voluntary basis. Mr. Leon, head basketball coach, during his talk at the assembly said that the true Sequoits were those who came to the pep rally and supported the teams. I am in full agreement with him. The person who comes just to talk or make trouble is not a "true Sequoit."

The Senior Class of Antioch High has announced the theme of this year's Christmas Formal. It has been christened "Candy Cane Lane." The date is December 22, 1961 in the boys' gym. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m., coronation at 11 p.m., and festivities will end at 11:30 p.m. Music will be furnished by the Top Hatters. The public is cordially invited. The candidates for the Queen and her court are Judi Alin, Bonnie Schneider, Lois Olson, Pat Mitchell and Jeanette Lessard. The escorts for the girls will be Ron Gable, Mike Horn, Frank Nauseda, Joe Pleviak, and Denny Pogose.

The Student Council will sponsor the second Dress-Up Day of the current school year. The first one, before Thanksgiving was very successful. The Student Council hopes everyone will co-operate as well this time.

The purpose of dress-up day is to help encourage good grooming habits and proper etiquette.

On December 21 a special, non-religious program will be held in the boys' gym. A guest organist will be present to accompany the student body and Judy Turner will lead us in some good old-fashioned Christmas carols. A Brass Choir from the Senior Band will also be featured.

The high school dance band performed at the Lake Villa Village Hall last Tuesday night, Dec. 19.

Coming up: The Fenton Holiday Basketball Tournament at Bensenville, Ill., Dec. 26, 27, 28, and 29. Antioch tackles Elmwood Park at 8 p.m. on Dec. 26.

Christmas vacation starts today at 2:54 p.m.

I would like to wish all of you a very merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year. If any of you are driving over the Holiday, drive carefully. I am sure all of you are excellent drivers, but beware of the fools driving around or near you.

This column will not appear for the next two weeks due to Christmas vacation. Once again, Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

very small. He had never expected such unadulterated generosity from such a man as Alexander Woolcott.

At Christmastime a spirit of charity fills the air, the hearts of the hard are softened, songs fill the night, and all mankind rejoices.

"Toys for Tots" Drive is Success

Last Week to Contribute to Operation Santa Claus

This is the final week in the giant Moose Toys for Needy Children campaign and the committee announces that still more toys are needed.

Moose Governor Carl Schiesser announces the Moose Lodge is sponsoring a "Toy for a Tot" dance Saturday, December 23, at 9:30 p.m. The ticket of admission will be a toy for a needy child in this area. This will be the last opportunity to help in this Toys for Tots campaign.

Until today (Thursday, Dec. 21), "Operation Santa Claus" toy collection depots will be conveniently located at the following business houses: Snow White Ice Cream Parlor, Main St., Town for Men and Boys, Main St., Lyons & Ryan Ford, Main St., A & P Food Store, Lake St., Ben Franklin Five and Dime Store, Lake St., IGA Foodliner and Ace Hardware on Routes 59 & 173.

According to a list of needy children in this area, supplied by local agencies, more than two-thirds of the necessary toys have been collected. "I'm sure that the citizens of the Antioch Area most certainly will see to it that the other one-third will also be taken care of in this last week of the campaign," stated Bob Avery, chairman of the Moose Lodge's Civic Affairs committee.

Much of the success of the local campaign is due to the fine cooperation the Moose has received from the local newspapers and Radio station," Avery added.

Salem Central Board Meets Prom is Okayed for Spring

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of Central High School, Salem, Wisconsin, was held on December 12, 1961. Routine attention was given to minutes of previous meeting and financial reports were made.

Lauren R. Janus, a Lake Forest insurance broker, recently announced that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for state representative.

The board voted that Saturday, May 5, be made available to the Junior Class as the date of this year's prom. They also requested that a vote on the desirability of a prom be held by the members of the Junior Class. It was stated that if a prom is to be held it must take place in the high school and be a semi-formal or formal affair held between the hours of 8 and 11 P.M. with the grand march to begin at 10:30. Mr. Lawrence Nelson, Junior Class Advisor, met with the board and related information as to the status of activities of the Junior Class with respect to plans now underway.

Principal A. H. Erickson presented the names of several qualified auditors to be employed to audit school accounts at the end of the school year next June. He also related information on the progress in writing syllabi by the chairmen of the various departments in the high school.

The board voted that Central High School should make application for membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and advised the principal to take the necessary steps to implement this application. Bids were opened for purchase of a Federal Truck held for sale by the school district.

It was announced that school will be dismissed at 3 p.m., December 22, to recess for the Christmas vacation and resume on January 2, 1962.

Channel Lake News

By Mrs. Pearl Kapell

Christmas songs by the choral group were the feature of the program at the Channel Lake P. T. A. meeting on December 13. Children from the first to the fourth grade are in the group, and what they lack in technique they make up in sincerity. The audience joined in singing a couple of the Christmas songs. Mrs. Amendola's room won the room count for parents attending, and refreshments were served by the sixth grade mothers.

Next month's P. T. A. program will be on Civil Defense in the schools, and there will be a guest speaker.

Mrs. Mary Bierman has a new granddaughter for Christmas, born December 16 at Burlington hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shelton.

The McCarthy children—Jimmy, Dennis, Jeanie, Bryan and Maureen, entertained a group of their friends in their new home on Tiffany road Saturday. They had a cranberry and popcorn stringing party, and each child took home one string of the decorations for his or her own tree. Katherine Chase, Alicia Bierman and Mary Lasco were among the guests. Katherine took a long string home for her own tree, and fashioned a short string for her grandmother's tree, "because she has a little tree." Refreshments were served to the hungry workers at the end of the session.

While most of us are snarling at that monotonous weather forecast, "Snow, freezing rain and colder," there's one group that beams happily. The winter sportsman. A big group, too, as witness the crowds of fishermen seen on Channel Lake this weekend. Fishermen report the ice safe, about three inches thick, and lots of bluegills and crappies being caught.

Rudy Palenik, from his resort on Lake Marie, reports ice about six inches thick on the channel and bay, and fish biting good on minnows, weed worms and minnows. So if your husband's an ice fisherman, ladies, and you can't think what to get him for Christmas, get out and collect a jar of weed worms for him. With your own little hands. "Greater love hath no woman." And along with it, give him a ticket to the ice fishing derby to be held on Channel Lake on January 14, sponsored by the Northern Illinois Conservation Club.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoerich of California Subdivision are the parents of an eight and one-half pound baby girl, Leslie Ann, born Dec. 15 in St. Therese Hospital.

Pfc. Edward Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Heath, is home for Christmas on 20 days leave. Eddie is stationed at Fort Larson, Colo., and returns to study on Dec. 28.

The stork beat Santa Claus to the home of the John Runyards—they have a new little girl, Diane, born Dec. 14, weighing seven pounds, twelve ounces. Diane has three brothers and one sister.

The whole community will miss Mr. and Mrs. Verne Heath when they leave for an extended trip about the first of January. Verne, active in many clubs and civic affairs for as long as most of us can remember, will leave his job as janitor of the Channel Lake school on January 1. Verne and Mary plan to drive to Pensacola, Florida, first, to spend about six weeks with their son, Raymond, and to visit an aunt in St. Petersburg. From there they will travel to California to visit their daughter, Juanita, and return to Channel Lake in April or May. If this winter keeps throwing the variety of miserable weather at us that it has so far bestowed, we will all wish we were with them.

Last day of school at the Channel Lake school before Christmas vacation on Dec. 21. Don't get too lonesome, kids—you can return to your beloved school on Jan. 3.

Elaine Atwood's mother, Mrs. Mary Pritchard of Balaton, Minn., is spending the holidays at the home of her daughter. Jim Atwood and his mother drove to Balaton last weekend to pick up Mrs. Pritchard and had to fight four to six inches of snow coming home. Mrs. Pritchard, now 82 years old, lives on a farm near Balaton and keeps house for an older brother. After spending some time with the Atwood family she will visit another daughter, Mrs. T. A. Dixon of Newcastle, Ind.

Lake Villa News

By Mrs. Fred Bartlett
Lake Villa, Ill. 6-9374

LAKE VILLA—The Royal Neighbors of Cedar Lake Camp, Lake Villa, held their election of officers Tuesday, with the following to hold office in 1962: Cecile Blumenschein, orator; Bernice Truelsen, vice orator; Edna Botts, past orator; Helen Fish, recorder; Mathilda Bartlett, receiver; Velma Langosch, marshal; Anna Veljkovic, inner sentinel; Cella Paske, outer sentinel; Georgia Avery, chancellor; Helen Reimer, manager for three years; Dr. Tauchas, camp physician.

Edna Botts was elected delegate and Helen Fish alternate to the Royal Neighbor State Convention to be held in the spring. More details in this column at a later date.

The Lake Villa American Legion Post and Auxiliary held their children's Christmas party Saturday night at the Lake Villa grade school gym. About thirty-five children and their parents attended. Each child received a gift, ice cream and cookies. Their parents were served cake and coffee. All enjoyed the party, despite the bad weather and icy roads.

The 8th and 9th grade Sunday School class of Lake Villa Methodist Church went carolling on Dec. 19. They met at the church at 7:30 and sang in the area adjacent to the church. They returned to the church about 9:30 p.m. and enjoyed hot chocolate and cookies.

Cella Paske was a visitor Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Shugart of Harvard, Ill.

The Junior High Youth Fellowship group of the Lake Villa Methodist church plans to go carolling on Thursday evening, Dec. 21. Cars will leave the church at 7 p.m. to go to homes of shut-ins to spread some Christmas cheer. They will return to the church for hot chocolate and cookies. Anyone planning to go carolling should be at the church no later than 7 p.m.

On Friday, Dec. 22, the Junior High Youth Fellowship group will have their Christmas party. The committee for the party is Mrs. Joseph Nader, Jr., and Mrs. Roger Prossie. They plan games, dancing and refreshments.

Each person is asked to bring a gift for a boy or a girl at Lake Bluff Children's Home.

The Methodist Men of the Lake Villa church will hold their meeting Dec. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship hall of the church. The topic for the December meeting will be "Bring Christmas Back to the Church."

The Martha Circle of the Lake Villa Methodist church is sponsoring a sale of Christmas candy. For more information about it contact Mrs. Fred Troesch, Mrs. Martin Lau or any member of the Circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartlett, Sr., received word from their son, Robert, who is at Rangoon, Burma. After being there for three weeks, he will return to the Headquarters of the 13th Air Force in the Philippines. He is a Director of Information for the United States Government.

College News

Dale Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Armstrong, is attending the University of Wyoming.

Last week Dale was made a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity. He says it really is cold up there in the Rocky Mountains. He is majoring in Chemical Engineering.

He will make his first trip home for the holidays since school started.

I would like to wish all the people who helped to make my column a success a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Assistance Loads Swell Thru State

Public assistance loads increased by 2,970 persons in October, bringing the total to 426,773 persons from September's total of 423,803 and the October 1960 count of 368,059, Peter W. Cahill, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission, reported today.

In Cook County the loads were 20 per cent higher and downstate loads 10 per cent higher than in October 1960. Overall, October costs amounted to $23,487,472, while September costs were $21,263,852, and the October 1960 costs came to $19,718,075.

In October 1960 the rolls held 120,738 persons. The decreases were partly caused by transfers of unemployed families with children to the Aid to Dependent Children program. October costs of $5,877,841 and average of $49.72 a person compare with September costs of $5,323,800 and average of $45.86, and the October 1960 cost of $5,273,646 and an average of $43.68 a person.

Aid to Dependent Children increased 5,800 persons with a total of 221,729 persons in October as transfers of children with unemployed parents from the state-local program of General Assistance to the federally aided program of Aid to Dependent Children continued. September rolls contained 218,929 persons; the October 1960 count was 153,482 persons; October 1961's cost: $9,926,885, average $44.77; September cost: $8,517,731, average $39.45; October 1960 cost: $6,003,387, average $39.12.

Blind Assistance showed a small increase as the 2,930 count of recipients in October was 6 over the September rolls of 2,924 persons but 39 less than the October 1960 count of 2,969. October costs were $265,339, average $90.56; September costs $253,427, average $86.07; October 1960 costs $246,078, average $82.88.

Disability Assistance rose to 21,085 from the September total of 20,507 and the October 1960 tally of 18,768 persons. October 1961 cost: $2,010,738 average $95.32; September cost $1,800,148, average $87.78; October 1960 cost $1,561,467, average $83.20.

Sequoits are Edged by Lake Forest 59-60

L.F. Shatters Ant. Defense

By Jay Nash

Last Friday night I attended the Antioch-Lake Forest game at ATHS. Compared to the previous game with Grayslake, the gym was sparsely populated on the Lake Forest side. This, of course, might be attributed to the poor condition of the roads. However, I don't think so.

Lake Foresters most probably expected their team to do poorly and wished not to witness the loss. Well, Lake Forest did do poorly, but so did Antioch.

Coach Larry Leon started Denny Pogose off as center against Lake Forest's tall (6'10") and ineffective center. Both boys did not last long beyond the first quarter.

The Antioch squad as a whole baffled me. Compared to the Grayslake game, they were slow, tight on breaking, wide and short of their shooting and in general, not functioning at all like an organized and level-headed team.

Kubicki was a let-down. His shooting was completely off. He pumped for 2 field goals and 3 free throws. "Kubicki should always go around 15," Coach Leon said afterward.

For the first time, I saw Brownlee become angered and frustrated. Being the key man out there, this, naturally, broke the team's stride from the offset.

Although he saw little action, Krieger seemed much better than his previous performances.

This can not be said, however, for Lang, Ozga and Dittman. They shot wild, their running game was sluggish, and their reactions to feeds made them look like they were in some sort of stupor. Their defense disappeared when Lake Forest's Ekdahl charged through them to rack up an impressive 20 points.

Pleviak and surprisingly enough Hallwas were about the only two boys out on the court actually working hard to make up their team's apparent lack of spirit.

Hallwas was exceptional on rebounding and tip-ins. Pleviak, although his shooting was as consistently good as the Grayslake game, fell apart on defense. He committed some atrocious defensive errors and thereby compiled a long list of fouls.

Losing by a slim margin of one point does not seem disgraceful perhaps, but according to their play, the Sequoits should have lost by at least 10 points. Hallwas and Pleviak prevented this from happening.

Coach Leon was equally baffled with the team's performance. "I just don't know what happened," he said. "Although Grayslake lost their game this week, too. Maybe our last game together drained a lot out of each team."

The closing minutes of the game, with Antioch trailing by one point, proved to be uninspiring. The Sequoits just could not take that lead and finally settled for a 59-60 score.

The team will now go into the Fenton Holiday Tournament, attempting to reach enough playoffs with visiting opponents to achieve the championship. All the teams participating will journey to Bensenville.

Blue Devils Whip Grayslake Squad

An inspired Warren Blue Devils squad scored 50 points in the second half to down league leading Grayslake 90-79, Friday at Gurnee. Led by Bill Grom with 23 points the Blue Devils notched their seventeenth consecutive win before a capacity crowd.

The first quarter ended with Warren holding a slight one point margin at 17-16. At intermission the Rams had moved out in front 41-40. Playing nip and tuck for the opening minutes of the second half with the lead changing six times, the Blue Devils finally moved out in front and ended the third quarter 70-58.

Both squads were hampered by personals with Grayslake's Williams and Warren's Walkington eventually being whistled out.

Top scorer of the game was Don Hawkins, Grayslake's 6'8 center, with 27 counters.

"GET THAT BALL!" Antioch Sequoits and Lake Foresters scramble on top of each other for an all-important rebound to attempt possession of the ball. The Antioch squad lost by 1 point to a jubilant Lake Forest Squad.

Junior wonder-bowler, Barbara Casella, received a special merit-award trophy from the American Junior Bowling Congress for a 239 game bowled on Sept. 23 of this year. Her father, Joseph Casella, stated that he would soon have to build her a trophy room.

Scouts Beaten By Johnsburg

Both the "A" and "B" squads of the Channel Lake school basketball team seem to have lost their winning ways. The "A" squad dropped their game with Johnsburg on December 12 by a score of 39-24. Channel Lake's "B" squad also bowed to the Johnsburg boys by a score of 31-15. The game was played in the Channel Lake gym.

Coach Howard Scott says the boys lack spirit and are not showing enough team work. In a game

Junior Bowlers Receive Trophies

By Mrs. Pearl Kapell

Winners in the Junior and Bantam League Bowling tournament, held at the Antioch Bowl on December 9, received their trophies on Dec. 16.

The tournament, sponsored by the Lake Region Jaycees, was run on a "plus over average" basis. Co-chairmen of the event were Gino Pichetti and Al Reckers.

Boys who won trophies in the Junior league were R. Ripley and C. Wachta; in the Bantam league, B. Cudahy and D. Sterbenz tied, both receiving trophies.

Girl winner in the Junior league was T. Schneider; in the Bantam league, J. Erdman and D. Rockow.

Grant's Bulldogs Take Ela-Vernon

Bill Ebenezer's Bulldogs fought off a late Ela-Vernon rally to end their three game losing streak in a contest played at Lake Zurich, Friday night.

Leading by a 31-17 score at intermission after jumping to a 18-9 advantage in the first period, the Bulldogs watched their lead being whittled to a slim three point margin late in the fourth quarter.

With 5:17 left in the final stanza, two quick buckets by Skorupa and a pair of charity tosses by Gzeskowiak, put the Bulldogs safely out in front.

Grant also won the Frosh-soph curtain raiser by a 59-47 decision.

Bank Sponsors Bowling Meet

SCHOOL BOWLERS' CHRISTMAS TOURNAMENT

The American Junior Bowling Congress Christmas tournament, sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch, will be held on two days.

Wednesday, Dec. 27, at 10:30 the Junior League will roll their singles and immediately afterward the doubles.

Friday, Dec. 29, at noon all the Bantams will bowl in a "Singles" event.

There will be trophies for the winners of three divisions—Seniors 18 to 18; Juniors 13 to 15; Bantams 12 and under.

Waterford Bumps Salem Wrestlers

Consistent with their long string of hard-fought battles, the Salem Central High Wrestling team went down to defeat at the hands of Waterford by a score of 28 to 22.

Salem led in all individual matches until Waterford's DeGrave pinned Salem's Litchard, edging their team out by one point 18 to 17.

Three straight pins by Waterford wrestlers Johnson, Berlin and Ludpke totaled a 28 to 22 win for Waterford.

Sequoits Will Enter Into Bensenville Tournament

The Sequoits will get a breathing spell this weekend as they enter workouts in preparation for the Fenton Holiday Tournament at Bensenville, Ill., Dec. 26, 27, 28 and 29. Antioch, the only representative from the Northwest Suburban conference, will have a chance to show how the conference stacks up against teams from other areas in the Chicago district.

Coach Leon has scheduled light workouts for tonight and Tuesday, game day, with the only scrimmage set for this Saturday. In looking over the list of teams entered, Leon said, "Judging strictly from past records it looks like Palatine would have to be the tournament favorite."

To reach Bensenville, take the tollway south to the route 83 turn-off, then take turnoff west into Bensenville. A spectator bus will be provided for the students.

The first round schedule will start Tuesday, Dec. 26, at 8:30 p.m., with Glenbrook meeting Ridgebrook, followed by Antioch vs. Elmwood Park at 8 p.m. Dec. 27 will see Willowbrook vs. Lake Park, at 8:30; Palatine vs. Fenton at 8 p.m. and the loser of games 1 and 2 at 9:30 p.m.

The losers of games 3 and 4, the winners of games 1 and 2 plus the winners of games 3 and 4 will make up the action for Thursday, Dec. 28.

Salem Downs Williams Bay

Pointing towards a Southeastern Conference title, the Salem Falcons romped past Williams Bay Friday night 61-32. Out-scoring the Williams Bay crew in every quarter, Coach Grams used practically his whole bench.

Registering their fourth straight victory of the season the Falcons hit 37% from the field to Williams Bay's 24%. Zeihen and Yates once again shared scoring honors with 20 and 18 respectively.

Moving out to a quick first quarter lead of 21 to 6 the game was never in doubt with Salem in control all the way. Leading 33 to 13 at the half, the Falcons increased their edge to 47-22 by the fourth quarter mark. The Falcons coasted to the top end of the scoring in the final stanza to take the win 61-32.

Elsewhere in the conference, Union Grove took Palmyra 57-34, St. Mary's over Clinton 45-42, and Waterford over Norris 59-28.

Friday's action will see Salem at Norris, Union Grove at Clinton, Williams Bay at Palmyra and St. Mary's of Burlington at Waterford.

Wauconda Beat By Round Lakers

Round Lake came from behind twice in the fourth quarter Friday night to edge the Wauconda Bulldogs 49-48 and retain the tie for the Northwest Suburban Conference lead. The Panthers were hard put to contain a spirited Bulldog squad, playing on their home court at Wauconda.

The Bulldogs jumped off to a first quarter lead 17-12, but the Round Lake crew came roaring back and tied the score and moved into the lead at half time.

It was a see-saw battle from here on with the score knotted at 37 all with a little over 3 minutes left in the final stanza. The lead changed five times in the last 3 minutes with the Panthers going in front to stay on a jump shot by Johnson.

Wauconda out shot the Panthers from the field 20-19 but lost out at the charity line 11-8.

Johnson was high point man of the game, leading both squads with 21 counters.

We hope Your Christmas is as Bright and Merry as this Rollicking Tale

"Oh my gosh, he's pinched Santa Claus!"

YES, VIRGINIA

by Stanton M. Meyer

Amazing things can happen when you can shadow a thief in three overcoats and then arrest Santa Claus all in the same day.

I got my bow tie on for a disguise because I'm tailing this man in the three overcoats through the whole store for the last half hour. This pigeon is heading up the main aisle on the State street side toward the Jefferson entrance but I can't make a pinch unless I actually spot him swiping something. He stops at the camera section and starts to float around so while he eases the lightmeters I lean an elbow on the perfume counter.

"Hello, Virginia," I state, "Business smelling good today?"

"Good morning, belt man," she smiles. "Not too bad. Any gifts in your stocking yet?"

I don't say yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus even though the chief gives me my bonus check just this morning and I haven't cashed it yet. But I take my eyes off the guy at the camera counter long enough to look at her blue eyes and think what a rough break she's getting at Christmas time. She's got a little wisp of soft hair drifting loose over her forehead and it's the color of a new penny. And she has half a dozen freckles on each side of her nose which I am a married man with a six-year-old kid and can't do nothing about but I like freckles on my fellow-employees at Arnold Hill & Company when they are of the female persuasion and real pretty dolls.

"It's really sweet of you and Mrs. Cascino to ask me over for Christmas Eve," she says. "Thank you so much, Mr. Cascino."

The man in the three overcoats lays down a field case and picks up a German camera. Even from here I can see it's one with an f/1.9 lens. He looks for the salesman but the guy is eight feet away handing a charge plate back to a woman. "The name is Nick, Virginia. Lots of people even call me Nicky."

She smiles again and shows a pretty dimple. "I know, Mr. Cascino. I have to go wait on a customer."

Mr. Three-Overcoats drops the Leica camera into the pocket of overcoat number two. So it's Mister Cascino. So I'm thirty-seven years old. So I'm five foot four and getting thick in the middle from Maria's good spaghetti sauce. So I'm just a store dick, seventy-eight fifty take-home pay. So I can't mix it up with the guys at the candy store on Pulaski Road like I used to which I am a trifle slow on the reflexes. But even Sandra Jane, my six year old kid, doesn't call me Methusalem yet.

The jerk in all the overcoats strolls back into the main aisle and heads for the revolving doors. Before he goes ten feet I nail the punk. I tackle him like I'm playing for the Chicago Bears and we both slide down the marble floor right into the leather goods section. He gets up swinging but I hand him a judo clip they learned us before the Salerno Landings in 1943 and he folds. Then I get my belt off which I also wear suspenders in my work and I get a purchase on him and I get his mitts behind him and the next minute his hands are looped up in my belt and he's as peaceful as if he had handcuffs on. That's why they call me the belt man; it's my own specialty in the store security profession.

Once, my first Christmas at Arnold Hill's I forget and leave my belt in my other pants. I make a pinch like this on the main floor on the Wabash Avenue side right next to silverware where all the society dames hang out. I have to tie this shoplifter up in his own belt and we take three steps and the inevitable happens. I hustle him into a standing elevator real quick and we take it non-stop to seven and the chief's office, but my partner Frank who is working the mezzanine tells me afterward the society women are shrilling so loud you can't even hear the music playing "Silent Night" over the p.a. system. My boss, the chief of store security, can't make up his mind whether to fire me or give me a citation, so he does both. But the story don't get in the papers and he hires me back three days later, just like I knew he would.

Which is why I now always wear suspenders and a belt. You never can tell.

I steer this jerk all the way back from the Jefferson entrance to the elevator bank and every step of the way I'm doing a slow burn about Virginia and her Mister Cascino bit. If there's one thing I'm vain about it's my youth. So I push the punk into the elevator and the eight or ten women inside try to climb through the roof. It's Karen's elevator, she's a little blonde dish, and she tries to hide a smile. When she calls "Second floor. Ladies' lingerie, linen shops", the customers pour out like somebody has hollered fire.

"What's the matter, Karen, am I poison or something? Or are we holding our January White Sale in December?"

Karen heads non-stop for seven and looks me up and down. She's an ice blonde. "You're bleeding, Mr. Cascino," she says. I whip out my hankie and touch my lip and sure enough there's a spot of blood from where Three-Overcoats, out of sheer happenstance, connected one. "Accident," I growl.

Karen smiles a cool smile. "Seven," she says. "Credits. Advertising. And store security." I do not look at her. I walk my prisoner out. I am not only vain of my youth, I am also jealous of my professional knowledge and skill. I got dignity.

And believe me, in this business, dignity is only one of the things you got to have. You got to know your way around. Take making a pinch, for instance. You can't pinch a shoplifter inside the store unless you are sure he or she is making off with the merchandise. On the main floor that is sometimes rough. A woman will take something over to the door and you have to be mighty sure she won't be in a position to claim she just wanted to look at it in the daylight before she bought it. Lots of people are just looking for grounds to sue the store; they make a regular racket out of it. Bringing suit against a department store can be very profitable; especially Arnold Hill's. They are one of the biggest which a jury thinks they have a key to the U.S. Mint.

Making a pinch inside the store is hard enough; it's worse outside. Once the suspect steps out on the sidewalk, you got no authority to even make an arrest. All you can do is hold the suspect and send for a city cop to make it official. Try that the week before Christmas at State and Jefferson in downtown Chicago! You're mighty happy to find a policeman who isn't tied up six ways to a gatepost on traffic duty. Then, if the shoplifter is a woman, she will often state that you are trying to rob or molest her. By the time you are through explaining to the crowd and maybe the corner cop, too, you're lucky if she isn't already aboard a subway train bound for Logan Square or Evanston.

All these things are running through my head while I stand in the employees' washroom stopping the bleeding on my lip with alcohol, alum and styptic pencil. I can't figure women out. I'm a store security officer. It's my job to protect the store, its merchandise and its customers and employees. To do this I got a special education . . . in judo, crime detection, arson investigation, first aid, rope climbing, use of firearms, the civil and criminal codes of the City of Chicago and the State of Illinois, how to obtain statements, law of evidence and how to hide a tape recorder on one's person. In a fire, a bombing or a panic I got to know what to do.

So my interest in the store, its merchandise, customers and employees is purely protective. Especially in Virginia. And Karen. And Alice in misses' blouses. And Anne in advertising. And the new little waitress in the Wellington Room whose name escapes me but she looks like Elizabeth Taylor. But they act like I'm asking them for a date which I'm married with a six year old child and wouldn't think of doing. So it's always Mister Cascino or maybe "belt man" which my wife, Maria, says is something out of Brookfield Zoo like this Abdominal Snowman they are always trying to discover.

Maria wants I should leave Hill's and open my own private eye office. On what? "Tell your pop to sell one of those flat buildings he's got which is on Division and Pulaski and grubstake me and then I'll run Pinkerton out of business," I tell her. But he's holding on to them. His brother, Uncle Angelo, sold his to the city at a big price and they tore it down. I guess her pop thinks they're going to put through another Northwest Expressway. So I go downtown to Arnold Hill's every day, carrying my .38 in a paper bag like it was my lunch. That's another of my professional specialties. Maria gave it to me for Christmas three years ago and it's a Smith and Wesson. And I try to be nice and protective to Virginia, especially nice and protective on account of she has troubles of her own.

She is from Detroit, Michigan, and she is engaged last summer to her fiancée which is a rich young man named Arthur whose pop is in automobiles. And Virginia wants he should do an honest day's work which he doesn't; he is an artist and an exhibitionist who gives one man art shows at the art museums and like that and he will not work. So they have a split-up and she hands him back his ring and she tells her mom and pop not to let on to him where she has moved to in Chicago, which she can't support herself unless she takes a job. So she goes to work in September at Arnold Hill's. And she is a sweet kid. She lives in a walk-up on the near North Side. And she won't go home for Christmas because she is afraid to run into Arthur in Detroit. She is carrying a torch for Arthur real bad.

Maria and I talk to Virginia at the annual Thanksgiving Eve show Hill's employees put on. We sit next to Virginia and her roommate, a pretty doll of the feminine persuasion who works in credits and which I feel very protective to also. And it's Maria's idea to have Virginia out to the house for Christmas Eve on account of her roommate is going home to Waukegan, Illinois, and she will be alone. And I figure it's a fine idea because she is a lonely kid and she has blue eyes and freckles.

But now I'm not so sure. I am of a very friendly persuasion and I am sensitive about people who call me mister when I am only thirty-seven years old.

So my lip is O.K. and I have had my coffee break and I go to the main floor again but not in Karen's elevator. I see a lot of commotion as I step out the door and I get set to make my second pinch of the day. But this turns out to be one I miss.

It sometimes happens that you miss a pinch even when you got a special education like mine. I missed two at Christmas last year. The first one didn't matter much because this woman grabs an armful of Christmas packages, all wrapped up with beautiful ribbon, like they were full of hundred dollar merchandise. She runs for the State street door. I take off after her, but I can't tackle her for a couple reasons, which is, one, she is a middle-age lady and, two, she is too far away. So she runs out and gets lost in the crowd. When I get back inside the store to the section manager to make out my report everyone is laughing. It's on account these were empty boxes all wrapped up for display only and I wonder what the middle-age lady said when she got home.

But sometimes you miss a real pinch. Like I have stated, I got a special education as a security officer. One of the things they tell you is you got to be extra protective with certain kinds of people like children, and ladies who are in a delicate condition. You got to look after them and see they aren't jostled or get tired. Well last year I see a lady and it's obvious she is in a delicate condition. I help her off the escalator and open the State street door for her because it sometimes gets awkward in a revolving door especially when you got lots of packages in a delicate condition. I even call a taxi for her.

But that is a pinch I should have made. When I get back inside, my code is up on the light board and when I call my boss he says he on the lookout for a female shoplifter. She has made off with a basketball from sporting goods and probably has it hid under her coat.

So when I get out on the main floor after my coffee break I see the commotion and hear people yelling and I figure I got another grab-and-run case. A saleswoman in jewelry hollers that a fellow has took off with a whole tray of men's wristwatches with Swiss movements. For a second I can't see anyone like a guilty subject so I say "What's he look like?"

Three people shout "He's got a Santa Claus suit on!" and sure enough I see a tall punk in a red suit running for the Jefferson entrance like he is trying for a three minute mile, his whiskers flying. He's got a good start on me, but I'm out on Jefferson street just in time to see him turning the corner onto Wabash. I see a city cop on the corner and I start to yell to him but I don't. I got a tail on Santa which I am feeling a little foolish because how can you tell a city cop you are going to put the pinch on Saint Nick? I run the whole length of the store outside clear down to Buchanan street. But I can't see anyone in a red suit. So I am puffing and winded on account of it's cold out and I am allergic to cold and I stand there and I figure it's a missed pinch.

Then I see something which the ordinary person would miss but a security officer with a special education in crime detection like mine could not miss it because it is lesson number three in crime detection which is called watch out for suspicious coincidences. I see two Salvation Army Santa Clauses on one corner and you never see this because these fellows have a territory just like a traveling salesman. One of them is tall and the other short. So I clap my hand on the tall Santa's shoulder and I tell him to come along. He is a little dazed or something that I can spot him so quick and he comes along. We go in the Buchanan street door on the Wabash side and I put the belt on him. Then I walk him through grandfather's clocks and the bridal bureau and across to the State street building and down the whole main aisle which is a block long.

We pass the escalators and then the elevator bank. Karen is standing there at her car door and she says "Oh my gosh, he's pinched Santa Claus!" And I begin to think, this is bad, this is not being protective to all the little kids in the store. You take now, a six year old like my Sandra Jane, if she saw Santa Claus arrested she would get a trauma. So by this time I am dragging this bogus Saint Nick past perfumes and cosmetics and I figure I better let the kids know this is not the real Ho-Ho man but a cheap nogoodnik. And there is Virginia looking at us and just then this punk sees Virginia and comes to life and begins to struggle like mad and I yank his false whiskers right off. She turns white and puts her hands up to her mouth and screams. She is more of a kid than I think.

"Don't worry, Virginia," I call to her, "this ain't really Santa Claus. Maybe we can get him on Code 16 which is impersonating an officer." But Virginia jumps over the counter and grabs this beardless Kris Kringle around the neck and cries "Arthur! Has he hurt you, Arthur? Oh, darling, what has happened to you?"

As I say, it is another pinch I missed. It takes twenty minutes to get the facts straight which we do up in the chief's office. Arthur is in town for his one man show at the Art Institute. "I figure while I am here I might as well do that honest day's work," he states. "So I get me a job as a bell-ringing Santa. It's my first day and this other Saint Nick is just showing me the ropes."

While we are talking the chief gets a call from Carson Pirie's down the street saying they have picked up the Santa Claus thief with our loot on him, which clears Arthur. Then the camera men come in from public relations and the City News Bureau. The general manager walks in to tell Virginia her bridal outfit will be the gift of the store. And Arthur's face is covered with lipstick as red as his suit.

"I suppose you kids will have other plans for Christmas Eve," I remark, "but in case you change your mind, Maria cooks wonderful alfonro and we got genuine Italian wine."

Virginia stands up. A little wisp of soft hair is drifting loose over her forehead and it is the color of a new penny. Her eyes are like Luke Michigan on a sunny 4th of July. She puts her arms around me. She kisses me right on the mouth.

"Oh, Nicky," she says, "We'll be there."

Silent Night

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria).

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David).

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

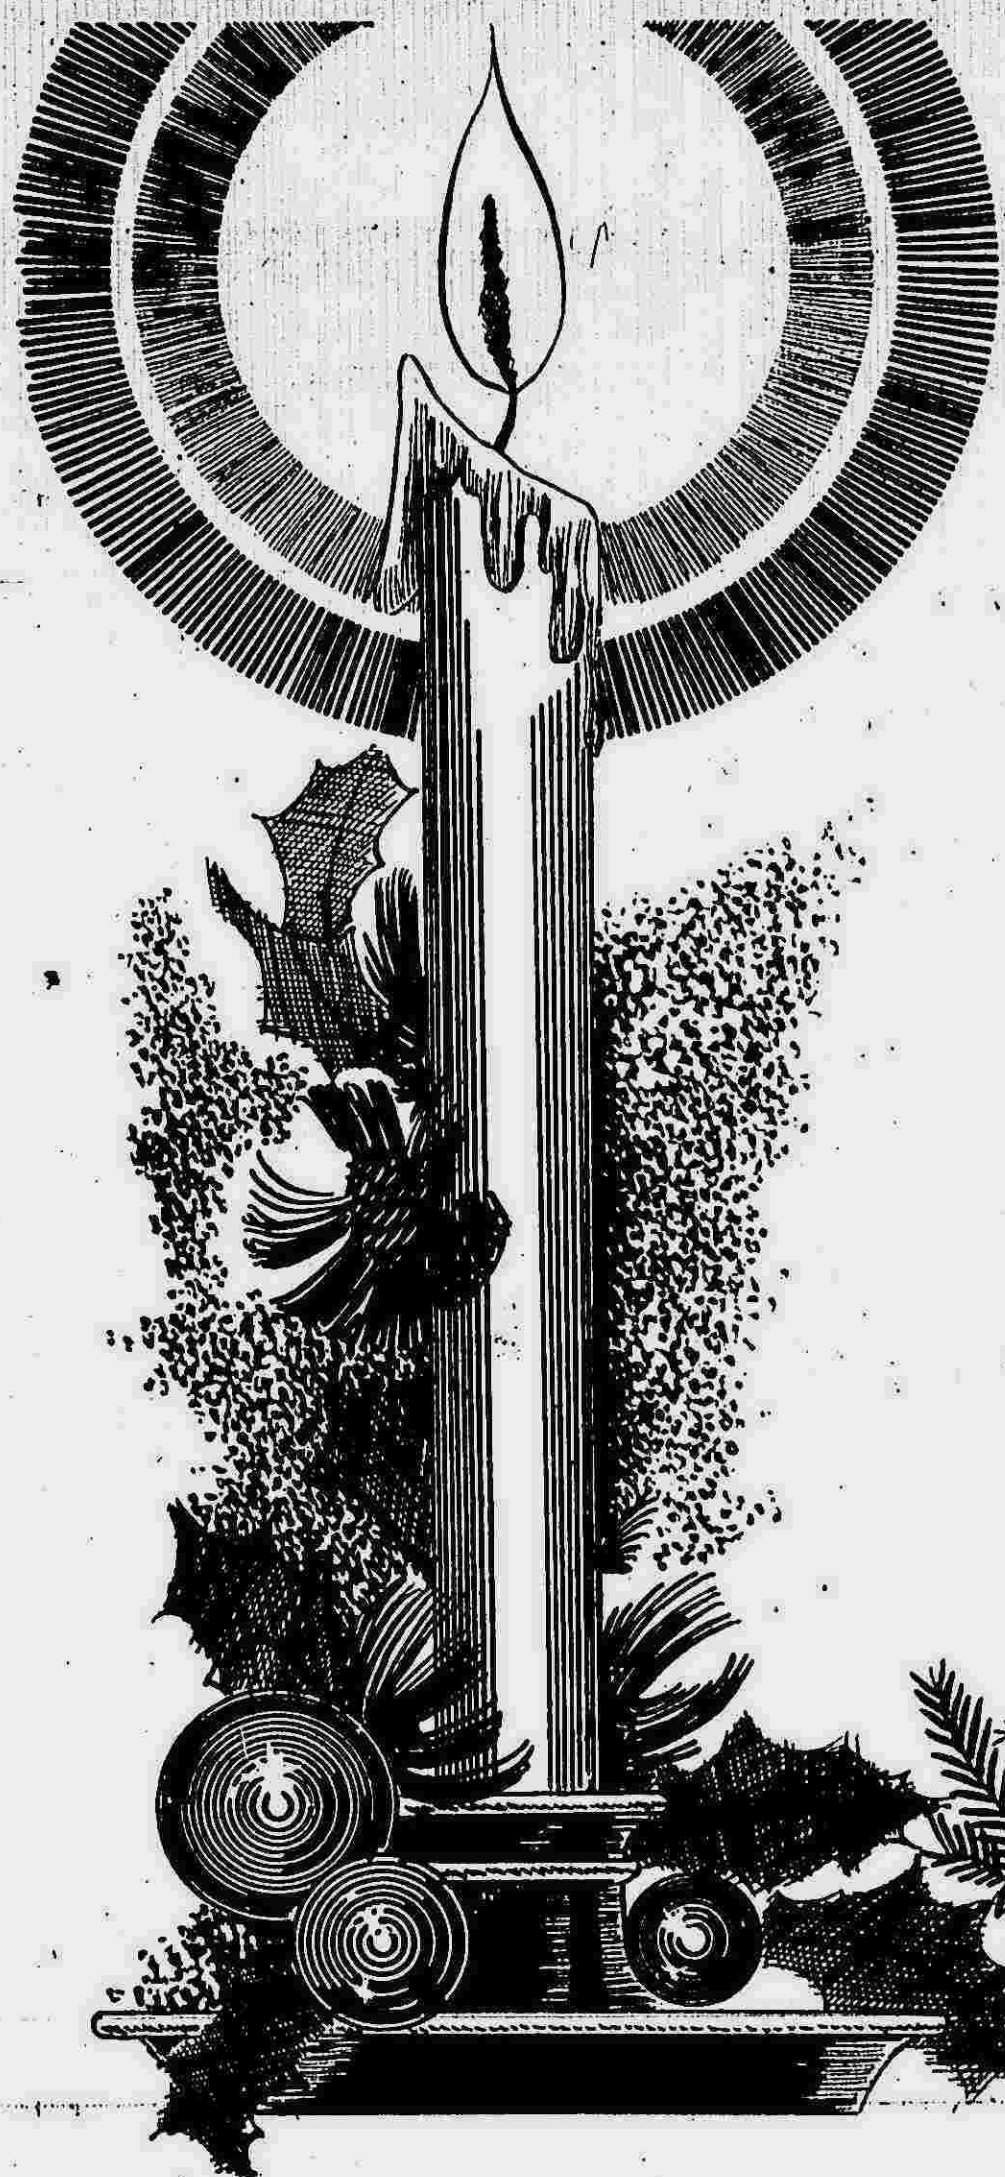

And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flocks by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you: "Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying:

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen as it was told unto them.
